Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 25 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Weather improving as high pressure builds across the north.

This Evening and Tonight:
Staying cloudy for most overnight, especially near the coast, but with outbreaks of rain and drizzle gradually fading away. Winds also easing, with a few clearer spells possible by dawn well inland where it will turn quite chilly. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
Variable amounts of cloud with the best of any brighter spells inland. The odd spot of rain or drizzle, especially across hills, or where sea fret moves into coastal parts. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudy on Sunday. Generally fine and dry with light winds and spells of warm sunshine on Monday and Tuesday. Staying rather dull and cloudy at times along the coast, however.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.